GARY, Ind., March 27.—Miss Mary C. Wass, 23, supervising nurse in a ward of the Methodist hospital in Gary, was kidnaped by two armed men last night in Marquette park on the lake front at the east edge of Gary.

She had gone riding in an automobile with George A. Frenchik, of Whiting. According to Frenchik he had stopped his car on a park road shortly before another car in which rode the two armed men, arrived. The pair jumped out and one man commanded Miss Wass to precede him into their automobile. The other followed him after taking Frenchik's keys.

Frenchik ran to the park pavilion and telephoned the police. He said both the kidnapers were young and well dressed, and that they took a road leading into Gary. Miss Wass was formerly a resident of Plymouth, Ind.

Miss Wass returned to her home today. She told police that after being driven around for several hours one of the men attacked her and taking her to a point near an interurban station gave her car fare to Gary and drove away.

Miss Wass is a former Greencastle girl and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wass, who while residents here lived on west Columbia street and Mr. Wass was superintendent in charge of the telephone line of the Greencastle Telephone company. Mr. and Mrs. Wass visited friends in Greencastle about a month ago.

SCARLET FEVER IS REPORTED IN HENDRICKS COUNTY SEAT

DANVILLE, Ind., March 27.—A number of cases of scarlet fever have appeared in Danville, resulting in several homes being quarantined. Several school children have the disease, but the situation was not considered serious enough to warrant closing the public schools.

Betty Jean Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walker, was one of the first victims and she is now on the road to recovery. Pauline Landis, daughter of Supt. and Mrs. C. R. Landis, is quarantined at her home, as is "Buddy" Harvey, little son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Harvey.

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. Mount, college students residing in the property of Mrs. Masten on south Indiana street, are suffering with the disease.

"Red" Pruitt, relief center on the C. N. C. basketball squad, is quarantined because of the disease in the Barnett apartments.

DISTRICT ORATORICAL

The Fifth District high school oratorical contest on the Constitution, sponsored by the Indiana Bar Association, will be held at the Amo high school building at 7:30 p. m., Friday, March 27. Orations on the Constitution and patriotic speeches will be the program.

LOCAL MOOSE ENTERTAIN
VISITORS FROM NEARBY CITIES

The local Moose lodge 1592 entertained their brother members from Crawfordsville, Bloomington, Indianapolis and Terre Haute with a dinner Wednesday evening at the lodge hall here. The annual nomination of officers was held. There were approximately 75 members present.

COUPLE GETS SECOND
DIVORCE FRIDAY MORNING

Their second divorce was granted to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frye by Judge James P. Hughes in the Putnam circuit court this morning. The decree was given on a complaint filed by Mrs. Frye charging cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple obtained a divorce last October, and were remarried on December 18. According to Mrs. Frye's complaint they lived together until January 20 of this year, when they were finally separated.

Mrs. Frye alleged that her husband was guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment in that he failed to provide sufficient food and clothing for her and their children and threatened to kill her. The husband was given custody of the two children born to the couple during their earlier marriage.

PUTNAM GIRLS ARE HONORED BY
INDIANA D. A. R.

MISS DORIS HELEN STROUBE AND MISS MARY HOSTETTER OF ROACHDALE WILL ATTEND
CENTENNIAL CONGRESS OF ORGANIZATION

ROACHDALE, March 27.—Two Roachdale girls are the recipients of signal honors bestowed upon them by the Chapters of the Indiana Daughters of the American Revolution, who are sponsoring a bell for the carillon—singing bell tower—at Valley Forge. This set of bells is to be represented by all the states of the Union.

Miss Mary Hostetter and Miss Doris Helen Strobe are the fortunate young ladies to be chosen from this place. Miss Hostetter is chairman of the state committee and both Miss Hostetter and Miss Strobe have been appointed as pages at the Centennial Congress of the D. A. R. which will be held in Washington during April.

Both appointments means a distinctive honor to the girls and could never come but once in a lifetime. As chairman of the Committee, Miss Hostetter will, in a great measure, be responsible for the campaign to raise $2,000 with which to give the state representation among the singing bells of Valley Forge, the historical campground where George Washington and his Continental Army suffered the rigors of the winter of 1777 and 1778. The Indiana D. A. R. hope to dedicate the state bell next year, the bicentennial of the birth of Washington.

No other American patriotic shrine is more hallowed than the hills and vales of Valley Forge. From childhood's earliest years of understanding, the story of Valley Forge is first to find thrilling and patriotic lodgment in the hearts of America's youth. Visions come of Washington and his troops quartered in bleak hills, nineteen miles from Philadelphia. Winter, ever unsympathetic found them building crude huts in which to house their miserable but patriotic determined selves. They faced hunger, sickness and bitter cold while the pompous Lord Howe and his British redcoats lived in luxury and dissipation in and near Philadelphia.

The name Valley Forge had its inception through the fact that along a small stream, which emptied into the Schuylkill River a little industry known as the Mount Joy forge, was established in 1742. There are traditions that a forge was built there in 1719 and was the first in the province.

Probably the Valley Forge Carillon is the greatest patriotic project ever undertaken by the nation. Money raised by the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of America will provide a massive tower in which will be placed a set of bells representing every state in the Union and the American colonies. Miss Hostetter is seeking to raise $2,000 for Indiana's bell and hopes to have the bell ready for dedication.

MISSION DENIES HOLDING

States That Tendency To Consolidate
Purely Local Telephone Companies Into Corporations Is Adverse To Public Interest

In a ruling handed down by the Indiana Public Service commission today, The Indiana Commercial Telephone corporation was denied the right to issue securities and to purchase properties of a number of Indiana Telephone Companies, including the Greencastle Telephone company and the Putnam county Telephone company.

The Indiana Commercial Telephone company was a holding company formed for the purpose of controlling the other companies, which are owned by the persons, who formed the holding company. Other Indiana Telephone companies, which the holding company, sought to purchase were the Home Telephone company of Elkhart county, Laporte County Telephone company, Logansport Home Telephone company, Steuben county telephone company, Fayette Telephone company, Liberty Telephone Utilities company, and the Royal Center Telephone company.

The holding company sought to issue and sell 61,000 shares of common stock of no par value and 11,000 shares of preferred stock of no par value and $2,250,000 in principal amount of first mortgage gold bonds. It was proposed to sell the common stock at $25 and the preferred at $90 testimony of J. F. O'Connell, president of the various companies at the recent hearing before the commission disclosed.

Members of the public service commission point out in their ruling that the total annual dividend and interest charges on the proposed issues would be $178,500 as compared with a total of dividends and interest now of $72,577, an increase of $105,923.

In their ruling refusing to permit the merger the Public service commission finds that there is neither preferred stock nor bonds outstanding against the Greencastle Telephone company, the Putnam county telephone company and the Fayette Telephone company, and these companies would have to contribute toward payment of dividends and interest on the proposed stock and bond issues if the merger were permitted.

Besides denying the merger the commission ordered that the telephone company pay $3,697.93 as costs in the case.

In their finding the Public service commission quoted the following from a former ruling of the body. "The Commission believes that the present tendency to consolidate the purely local telephone exchanges into larger corporations in many instances is adverse to public interest. The Commission believes that close local contact with the controlling authority of the telephone exchange is more conducive to good service and reasonable rates.

"The Commission believes that utility rates generally are too high. It is determined to remedy this situation. This is not a rate case but value determined in this case will be evidence of value in subsequent cases. The Commission insists upon its lawful right to approve or disapprove matters that come before it for sanction in the light of all evidence which it has, bearing upon such matters.

"Speculation in utility properties within this state has been very pronounced in the last few years. It is very clear to the Commission that the tendency to inflate purchase and sales prices of utilities is a result of

Annual Invitational Track Meet Is
One of State's Outstanding Events—Football Schedule Is Announced

Coch W. E. Bausman of the Greencastle high school is busy completing a spring athletic program. He announced this morning that Tiger Cub Athletics would participate in inter-scholastic baseball and possibly in track. Bausman said, however, that spring football might be substituted for the track program.

A meeting of all high school boys interested in spring athletics has been called by the Tiger Cub mentor for Monday afternoon Bausman stated this morning. It is to be decided at this meeting whether spring football or track will be on the purple and gray program.

The baseball schedule for the Purple and Gray squad has not been completed as yet, but it is expected to be arranged within the next few days. The first call for baseball practice will probably be issued Monday.

Greencastle's annual invitational track meet, which is held at Blackstock field, is considered one of the state's outstanding track and field events, and draws the best teams in the state. The meet is sponsored by Greencastle High school and DePauw university. There have been years, however, when the Greencastle high school had no entries as the Greencastle mentor considers track a minor sport.

The Greencastle coach hopes to build his football squad for next year around Godfrey, flashy veteran half back.

The football schedule contains a number of the better teams in this part of the state and is as follows:

Sept. 18—Martinsville, there.
Oct. 2—Jaxsonville, there.
Oct. 9—Columbus, here.
Oct. 14—Lafayette, there.
Oct. 23—Clinton, there.
Oct. 30—Crawfordsville, here.
Nov. 11—Brazil, here.

MATER OF ROCKVILLE, HONOR
GUEST AND SPEAKER

Many members of the Odd Fellows lodges and Rebekahs lodges of Putnam county were guests of the Putnam lodge at a get-together meeting last night in the lodge hall of the Putnam lodge. The principal address of the evening was given by George P. Bornwasser of Indianapolis, grand secretary of the Odd Fellows lodge.

Mrs. Mary I. Mater of Rockville, president of Rebekah state assembly was an honor guest and made a delightful talk.

Mrs. Kate Houck, representing the Beehive Rebekah lodge, gave a short talk on lodge work.

The names of the members of the Odd Fellows lodge who had belonged over forty years were read and George Crawley and A. B. Phillips were the only two present. Mrs. Kate Steeg, mother of Mrs. Emmett Green, had been a member of the Rebekah lodges for the longest time and was given a rising vote of cheer.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Fillmore orchestra and a program of readings completed the program. A delicious supper was served at a late hour.

PROFESSOR MARK E. JOHNSON,
HEAD OF THE VOICE DEPART-MENT PLANS PROGRAM FOR
MEHARRY HALL NEXT TUES-DAY EVENING

Prof. Mark E. Johnson, head of the department of voice in the DePauw school of music, will give his first faculty recital in Meharry Hall next Tuesday evening. Prof. Johnson came to the music school faculty last September following the resignation of Prof. Charles E. Carson.

In his coming recital Prof. Johnson plans to sing a number of well known arias from operas. His only other public appearance was in a chapel service when he sang a twenty-minute program of opera music. He sings bass baritone.

Mr. Johnson has studied advanced opera in Munich and was associated with Robert Chambers at the Shakespeare Memorial Theater, Stratford-on-Avon, England. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and studied voice in the Eastman School of Music in America. For a year and a half he sang with the American Opera Company that made such an outstanding appearance in Indianapolis about two years ago.

If there is one field of music that Prof. Johnson is perfectly at home, it is the field of the opera. For three years he assisted Eugene Goossens, premier opera producer. He has planned some time to produce an opera here on the campus utilizing the talent from the school of music. Lovers of deep rich voices will do well to hear Prof. Johnson's recital.

TALKS ON LESSONS LEARNED

Says That Entire Reform Effort of
The Country Is At Present
Directed Toward This Particular Objective

President Oxnam delivered the principal address this afternoon before the meeting of the Central W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Ovid Butler Jameson in Indianapolis. It was understood that Booth Tarkington, noted Hoosier author and relative of Mrs. Jameson was to be present. In the receiving line for the meeting and dinner that followed were Mrs. Jameson, the hostess, Mrs. Oxnam, Mrs. James P. Goodrich, wife of the former Indiana governor, Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter, Mrs. Charles N. Williams, Mrs. Ernest Bross and Mrs. W. W. Reedy.

Dr. Oxnam said in his talk: "The early prohibitionist sought to challenge a pagan axiom—namely, The habit of drinking intoxication liquors, life destroying though it may be, is so firmly ingrained in human conduct that to eradicate it is impossible. The prohibitionist sought concrete proposals whereby that axiom might be challenged. The proposals ran the gamut from temperance and total abstinence pledges, through many and varied schemes of control, to the final adoption of an amendment to the federal constitution.

"It has been generally admitted that earlier schemes were but partially successful. It remains to be seen whether the Eighteenth amendment will prove to be the final solution to the problem. I take it for granted that this body in the interests of temperance will use every effort to mould public opinion, to educate the rising generation, to build a personnel qualified to enforce the law, and to strike at the roots of the traffic that are found deep in the profits that accrue from it.

"However, it is not an argument for prohibition that I seek to bring today but rather a consideration of certain lessons learned by the prohibitionist in his reform that ought to be guideposts for him in considering reform.

"One of the chief criticisms of the lies in the fact that our total energies are spent in a single reform. From one point of view that is wise strategy, since power is always multiplied when concentrated upon a particular objective. However, there is danger here, as in warfare when an advance in a particular sector goes so far beyond the main lines that it becomes possible for the enemy to cut off the advance bodies by flank attacks. The entire reformist line must advance and men who seek to build the Kingdom of God ought to be able to count upon the temperance forces to attack entrenched wrong wherever it may be found.

"What are the lessons learned by prohibitionists that ought to be remembered in considering other reforms?

"First, the disservice to society resulting from judging a reform proposal by a label rather than by analysis of the proposal itself.

"Second, the logic of the morality underlying the attempt to abolish the liquor drives the crusader into other reformist efforts. The moral justification for the temperance movement lies in the fact that it recognizes the infinite worth of personality and there fore seeks to remove life destroying forces and enthrones life building forces. Such a morality denies one of the right to rest where but a single life destroying force is removed. It demands constant struggle until all

RACE FOR EXTRADITION OF BURKE UNDERWAY

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 27.—Identification by Missouri authorities of a man arrested near Milan, Mo., yesterday as Fred Burke, notorious gunman, was confirmed promptly on the arrival of five Chicago detectives here today. All said they had seen him before.

The detectives, who sped here from Chicago by automobile, went immediately to the jail to see Burke.

They said plans had been made to carry on extradition negotiations between the Governors of Illinois and Missouri by airplane.

Harry Ditchburne and Walker Butler, assistant state attorneys, who have been investigating the Valentine day massacre, in which Burke is suspected of complicity, arrived by train shortly after the detectives. They also confirmed identity of the gunman.

Earl Mathews, chief of police of St. Joseph, was undecided today as to which of several states he would release Burke.

Extradition papers for the return of Burke to Michigan, where he is wanted for the slaying of a St. Joseph policeman, were signed today by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, of Michigan. The Governor also sent a telegram to Governor Henry S. Caulfield, of Missouri, urging the latter's granting of the extradition papers. His telegram read:

"Sheriff Fred Cutler, of Berrien county; Prosecuting Attorney Cunningham, with other officers, are enroute to your state with extradition papers for Fred Burke, wanted in Michigan for slaying a policeman and other crimes. I shall thank you to show these men all possible courtesy and consideration."

have been eradicated.

"Third, the constant misrepresentation of the facts in connection with this movement, by friend and foe alike, reveal a menacing force striking at the very foundation of representative government. Representative government is based upon the theory that ultimate authority is in the people. Through their representatives laws are passed and the country is governed. The representative system involves an intelligent electorate. The electorate is dependent upon the press and the radio for the information upon which its judgments are based. These judgments culminate in the exercise of the sacred right of franchise. A new morality must control the forces that shape public opinion. It must be the morality of the market place; it must be the morality of the home."

League of Women Voters Closes Its Convention

The Indiana League of Women Voters will continue to support the direct primary and permanent registration of voters, it was decided yesterday afternoon at the closing session of a two-day convention in the Columbia Club.

The league also will continue to study ways in which progress of the state is hampered by the present constitution with a view to formulating definite recommendations for changes and will make a survey of Indiana social welfare laws, which are included in the organization's program of work, to determine their effectiveness.

The convention closed following a luncheon, which was devoted to child welfare, with Charles W. Hoffman of Cincinnati, O., judge of the Court of Domestic Relations, as speaker.

"Government," she said "is a big, expensive and complicated business demanding for his successful operation highly trained and expert officials. The problem, therefore, is to obtain this needed technical knowledge and still retain for voters their privilege of the final control."

"The failure to accomplish this is obvious, and just as at present many persons blame the direct primary as the cause just so a decade ago they blamed the convention system. During the short social hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by girls of the house. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. E. Williams.

Caravan Class Enjoy Supper and Program

About forty members of the Caravan class of the Christian church enjoyed a pitch-in supper followed by a program at the church dining room Thursday evening.

After the supper six girls from Miss Lorene Hicks' domestic science class gave a playlet entitled "Sauce For the Gossin." Games and contests followed.

Mrs. Wallace Long was chairman in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Aaron Arnold, Harry Wells and Everett Long.

undue speculative activity. Purchase and sale price is used as a basis of security issues and becomes a factor in establishing fair value, which in turn determines rates. The Commission can not hope to successfully control rate making or the issue of securities if the present speculative activity among utilities is not more effectively controlled. Often times unreasonable prices are paid for utilities. So long as valuations, security issues and rates keep pace with advancing purchase and sale prices this practice will continue. Such a process is clearly adverse to public interest. The control of such matters is delegated by law to the Commission. This Commission feels it to be its duty to curb undue speculation in utilities within this state.

"The Commission believes that such results are and will be detrimental to the public service; that the closest possible local contract is the best possible contribution to good service and reasonable rates for such service."

BOTANIST EXPLAINS MISTAKE OF CALVIN COOLIDGE

KENT, O., March 27.—When Calvin Coolidge, in referring to the springtime flow of maple sap, said the "earth is again pouring out her first seasonal bounty," he spoke poetically but not adequately, according to Martin L. Davey, head of the Day Institute of Tree Surgery.

The earth has merely furnished the crude materials, principally water, Davey explains. Sugar-laden maple sap is a product manufactured by the tree in its leaves during the growing season in the previous year. Its first use is as food for the tree. The maple tree manufactures more of this food than can be used during the current season, and stores the balance for use the following spring.

When early spring arrives the sap, which was congealed during winter, returns to liquid form, and flows freely. Along comes ingenious man to tap the tree and obtain its food, to be boiled down as syrup and sugar and made into candy for his own delight.

But even in this man cannot entirely outwit nature. The cells of the tree retain a major portion of this stored-up supply of sap. Man gets only the smaller part. If he could get all of it the tree would not be able to put forth its buds and leaves, and in time would die.

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE USE OF DEVICES OR APPARATUS WHICH INTERFERES WITH RADIO BROADCASTING RECEPTION

Be It Ordained by the Common Council of the City of Greencastle, Indiana:

SECTION I: That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, co-partnership, association or corporation, knowingly or wantonly to use or operate, or to cause to be used or operated any mechanical device, machine, apparatus or instrument of any kind, within the corporate limits of the City of Greencastle, Indiana, between the hours of six o'clock A. M. and twelve o'clock mid-night, the operation of which shall cause reasonable, preventable, electrical interference with radio reception within said corporate limits; provided, however, that X-ray pictures, examinations or treatments may be made at any time, provided the machines or apparatus used are properly equipped to avoid all unnecessary or preventable interference with radio reception and are not negligently operated.

SECTION II: That this Ordinance shall not be held or construed to brace or cover the regulation of any transmitting, broadcasting or receiving instrument, apparatus or device used in Interstate Commerce or the operation of which is licensed by or under the provision of any Act of the Congress of the United States.

SECTION III: The Chief of the Electrical Department of Building and Safety, his duly authorized Deputies or any trouble man duly authorized by the City and with instruments to locate interference shall have the right to enter upon any premises at any reasonable hour for the purpose of inspecting the installation or working of all apparatus covered within the terms of this Ordinance; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to interfere with the Chief, Deputies or trouble man in making such an inspection or refuse to permit him or them to enter the premises for such purpose.

SECTION IV: Any person, firm, co-partnership, association or corporation violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00 and to which may be added imprisonment in a County Jail of not to exceed Thirty Days.

SECTION V: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval by the Mayor and publication thereof, once each week for two consecutive weeks in two public daily newspapers of general circulation, representing the two political parties casting the highest number of votes in the last preceding general election in the City of Greencastle, Indiana.

Passed and adopted by the Common Council of the City of Greencastle, Indiana, on this 24th day of March, 1931.

WM. L. DENMAN, Mayor of City of Greencastle, Indiana.
Attest: Fred E. Snively, City Clerk.

This Ordinance was by me presented to the Mayor of Greencastle, Indiana on the 24th day of March, 1931 for his approval or disapproval.

WHAT IT'S HAPPENED BEFORE
(Joan Crawford drives from her home town by gossip following an "accident" with "Buddy Bannister" goes to the city to work. She meets and falls in love with David Bruce, an engineer. On their wedding night Bruce is ordered to her home town. One night he meets Bannister, an old friend, and invites him home for dinner. While David is absent from the room Bannister tells Joan he still loves her.)

Chapter Four

Randy became a frequent visitor at the Bruce home, generally in the afternoons when David was absent. Joan pleaded with him to stay away, fearful that the evil tongues of gossip would begin to wag again, but she feared, too, to forbid him to come because of what he might do. On one or two occasions he attempted to make love to her, but she warded off his efforts. Thereafter she managed to keep a servant in the room when he called.

She found consolation in the fact that David's work in River-can't stay that long." He walked to the fireplace and took down a rifle. "Great gun you've got here. Looks like it would kill anything."

Randy was uneasy. "Be careful. It's loaded," he advised.

"Expecting to use it?" David wanted to know.

"Not exactly," said Randy, shifting in his chair as David snapped the cartridges back into the magazine and let the barrel swing in his direction. "Believe you said something was troubling you."

"Oh, yes. . . It's about a friend of mine," David began. "This friend has a beautiful young wife. . . loves her. . . and she's crazy about him." He patted the rifle significantly, then went on, "Seems like another fellow is trying to come between them. . . molesting her you know. . . when her husband's away from the house."

He let the rifle barrel swing again in Randy's direction.

"Now, the wife hasn't said anything to the husband. . . because

GRANADA

Hoot Gibson in "Spurs" Plays Saturday

Hair-raising thrills from start to finish are furnished in "Spurs," Hoot Gibson's action picture which comes to the screen of the Granada Theatre for Saturday only, matinee and night.

Gibson's pictures have always been famous for breath-taking excitement, and "Spurs" is said to eclipse all others. There is broncho-busting, wild riding of all kinds, and combat ranging from fists to machine guns.

Gibson plays the part of a dare-devil son of the West who breaks up a gang of bad men. In addition, he also has time to stage a rodeo exhibition and engage in a pleasing romance with a range girl, portrayed by charming Helen Wright.

There is plenty of comedy in the picture and youthful Gibson fans will be especially pleased with the exploits of twelve-year-old Buddy Hunter, who has an important part in the production.

"Spurs" will appeal to all who like action, romance and comedy in settings of great scenic beauty. Gibson is at his hard-riding, hard-fighting best—and that means a picture of the very first rank as far as thrilling interest is concerned.

Added to the Saturday program will be a "Mickey Mouse" cartoon and a "Chimp" Monkey comedy.

Today "The Drums of Jeopardy" will have its final showing.

Starting Saturday midnight and playing through Monday Joan Crawford in "Our Blushing Brides" will be an exceptional screen offering.

Crooners' "Blues" Aims Hurt Jazz, Lewis Says

Ted Lewis as Sketched by Leo Kober, Famous New York World Artist

THE crooning style, though unquestionably effective, has introduced difficult harmonies and intervals into popular music which are taking it farther and farther from the jazz audience, Ted Lewis, famous orchestra leader, revue, talkie and phonograph recording artist believes. Ted broadcasts the second weekly program of his own first radio series Saturday night at 7:30 P. M. over WEAF and an N. B. C. chain, as master of ceremonies of the Club Valspar.

"Radio has removed the small town's musical inferiority complex," Ted says. "The travelling salesman from New York can no longer tell the town dance orchestra that its tunes are a month out of date, for the small town leader can follow the metropolitan trend from day to day by radio. But the search for novelties to satisfy radio's enormous consumption of melodic materials has driven Tin Pan Alley more and more into the difficult depths of its harmony texts."

Making up a shopping list

The hall needs a new rug. More towels are needed for the bathroom, and the kitchen floor could certainly stand a coat of paint. The children need shoes. The car will soon need tires. Well, we buy a hundred new things every year.

Scattered throughout the United States are manufacturers who make the very things we need. Their products are on sale in certain stores within easy reach. Certain of these products, and certain of these stores, are especially fitted to take care of our special need. But which products and which stores? Which can we afford, and which do we think is best? We must look to advertising for advice.

Advertising is the straight line between supply and demand. It saves time spent in haphazard shopping. It leads you directly to your goal. By reading the advertisements, we can determine in advance where the best values are to be found. With the aid of advertising, shopping becomes a simple and pleasant business, and budget figures bring more smiles than frowns.

From the pages of this paper you can make up a shopping list that will save you money.
